Moore gets 8 years; link to earlier threat against clinic doctor

U.S. District Judge William L. Beatty of Granite City on Friday sentenced Matthew Moore, 20, to eight years in prison for conspiracy to violate interstate commerce in the August 1982 abduction of Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos. The couple was freed unharmed after eight days.

Moore's brother, Wayne Moore, 18, was sentenced to an indeterminate jail term under the Federal Youth Corrections Act. His maximum prison term will be six years and parole is possible at any time before then.

In announcing his decisions in court at Alton, the judge commented that "a great number of people" may think he is being "too light and lenient."

The Zevalloses say they fear for their lives if Matthew Moore is released, and have encouraged the scheduling of a state kidnapping trial for the two brothers and Don Benny Anderson, 42, sentenced in February to 30 years in prison in the same case. The three are from Texas.

The trio claimed to be the anti-abortion Army of God and sought to persuade the local doctor to close the Hope Clinic in Granite City. He pretended to agree to close it.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed in the federal court that Matthew Moore has been identified as a man who robbed and threatened to kill the owner of a clinic in St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 11, 1981.

Moore was pictured by authorities as threatening the life of Dr. Michael Nauert at the Florida clinic. Six months later, that clinic and another one owned by Dr. Nauert in Clearwater, Fla., were burned after someone broke in and poured a flammable liquid on the floor.

In the November 1981 robbery, Dr. Nauert escaped by denying his identity and claiming to be the husband of a patient. The assailant wore a stocking mask and carried a pistol, placing it against the doctor's head.

A bank bag containing the clinic's deposit was taken by the intruder.

At Friday's sentencing, U.S. Attorney

New federal approach urged for steel survival

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

A new federal industrial policy to preserve the domestic steel industry was urged Friday afternoon by Walter F. Williams, president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., Bethlehem, Pa.

Williams, who was in this area to address a St. Louis Rotary Club luncheon, praised the modernization that has taken place at Granite City Steel.

The executive also applauded President Ronald Reagan's decision last week to raise tariffs and set import quotas on a variety of foreign-made stainless-steel products. But he said modernization and limited protective orders do not go far enough to assure the survival of steelmaking in the U.S.

America's steel industry suffered huge losses in 1982. Bethlehem Steel lost more than $1 billion last year even though it ranked 64th in sales among U.S. manufacturing companies, he noted.

Speaking at the Bel Air Hilton Hotel in downtown St. Louis, Williams outlined a "1983 Declaration of Dependence," warning that this nation's increasing dependence on steel imports and other foreign products poses severe national security, economic and employment threats. Categories cited included steel, oil, computer parts and other goods that would be essential in wartime.

He called for a far-reaching new federal policy affecting steel producers and consumers, including tax breaks and tariffs to assure that older industries such as steel can survive foreign competition.

"Aside from the steelmakers in this country, virtually every other steel company in the world is nationalized," Williams said.

"Our strategy has not been to harp on the import-export system; we believe in free trade. But we also believe in fair trade.

"All we are asking for is a favorable climate in which to work. We had been living in a 'dream world' since World War II, but in recent years have had a rather severe awakening.

"The federal action on specialty steel products is not enough in itself, although it does give a sign to foreign competition that we mean business, and that our government is concerned.

"We simply have not had in this country an industrial policy that lets us know what the ground rules are.

"We as a government must target certain industries and decide what we are willing to do to help them. Steelmakers need the kind of breaks they have not had in the last 10 years.

"European steel producers have continued dumping low-priced steel in the United States despite the fact that this is a violation of trade agreements," he asserted.

"A study by the Labor-Industry Coalition for International Trade outlines many government-created disadvantages for U.S. industries and

Tax windfall to area cities, county; three financial grants approved

Due to the higher state income tax, a windfall will be received by Madison County and by area municipalities in the form of increased revenue sharing.

The governor had proposed eliminating the one-twelfth local portion of state income tax receipts in his "doomsday" budget, which assumed there would be no state tax hikes. But tax increases were voted and the formula was left intact.

The local county's portion will rise $421,487 this year, from $1,421,394 to $1,842,881.

A state revenue spokesman said Quad-City area cities are likely to benefit by a total of several hundred thousand dollars.

Income tax withholding for individuals will rise from 2.5 percent to 3.5 percent this month and then drop to 3 percent for January to June 1984. Unless extended by the General Assembly, the state income tax will return to 2.5 percent on July 1, 1984.

The basic corporate income tax will increase from 4 to 4.8 percent retroactive to January 1983, returning to 4 percent in July 1984.

The Madison County government has cut back on employees and programs due to a recession-related financial squeeze in recent months. How the increase in shared revenue will be utilized is uncertain but the past pattern has been to emphasize tangible purchases rather than employee salaries.

Meanwhile, the state government has confirmed the allocation of four federal Urban Development Action Grants totaling more than $5,600,000 in U.S. Housing and Urban Development funds.

Three of the grants will be spent in Chicago and one in Granite City, the latter to aid resumption of production at the A.O. Smith Corp. plant.

Forty-three local Illinois governmental agencies, including the Granite City Park District, will share in an $800,000 federal allocation, it was announced during the weekend.

This grant program is available under the U.S. Small Business Administration's new Park and Recreation Area Development Grants. Funding will range from $1,300 to $55,000 and will be used for landscaping, tree and flower plantings and other beautification and improvement work.

The goal is to rehabilitate and enhance parks and other public lands while involving small businesses in providing jobs intended to result in lasting public benefit.

Charles Tamminga, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, said the 43 grants will lead to hiring of 275 unemployed Illinoisans through Sept. 15.

The Illinois Department on Aging will receive a $75,000 grant through the Emergency Jobs Bill passed by Congress in April, it was disclosed today.

Among the recipients will be the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging, which will hire an employment specialist to administer the local agen-

Seek cleanup of GC lead

Illinois is expected to be included among a list of debtors filing claims against Taracorp Industries, 16th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, as part of the state's continuing investigation into the 200,000-ton lead scrap pile near downtown Granite City.

Taracorp filed to reorganize under federal bankruptcy laws in October, 1982. The state's claim in that action is expected to give the state some financial leverage in getting the lead-smeltering firm to clean up the scrap pile.

The federal government has given no indication that Granite City will be eligible for Superfund monies that are set aside to clean up hazardous waste areas.

Taracorp purchased the company, and the scrap pile, from the former

Food distribution expanded

Effective this month, the Illinois Department of Public Aid has awarded the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission a new and expanded contract for distribution of food commodities.

The list for Sept. 30 distribution will include processed cheese, cheddar cheese, butter, dry milk and corn meal. On Aug. 19, the allocations will consist of processed cheese, butter and flour.

The latest contract is for July through September. Instead of commodities being shipped to the EOC warehouse, the food will be handled by Fox Industries of Granite City.

Fox will make deliveries to each township participating if the township's total deliveries are 2,000 pounds or more, Opal L. Davis of the EOC said.

Only two distribution dates were set

Fund decision paves way for school talks

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

Completion of state budgeting has set the stage for contract negotiations in many Illinois school systems, including Granite City District Nine, where agreements with all employee groups have expired.

Most of the GC district's administrators have received 10 percent pay cuts for 1983-84.

Projections show basic aid to Granite City schools rising from $9,152,852 in 1982-83 to $9,545,991 in 1983-84 but officials say the impact of the increase is likely to be reduced by a continuing enrollment decline.

Statewide, school assistance will advance from $2,412,000,000 to $2,591,000,000.

In Madison School District 12, a decrease from $2,563,377 in '82-83 to $1,924,276 in '83-84 is estimated by the State Board of Education.

While voting more funds for public schools, state lawmakers altered the financial aid formula, in order to discount part of the extra money a district receives to help educate low-income pupils.

This cutback, related to the federal Chapter I program, is viewed as a fac-

City may fight truancy

By GEORGEANN McGEE of the Press-Record

The city of Granite City may soon have its own law to take the parents, employers and harborers of school truants to court.

The local ordinance is aimed at speeding to trial violators who might otherwise not be on the priority prosecution list in the Madison County Circuit Court sytsem.

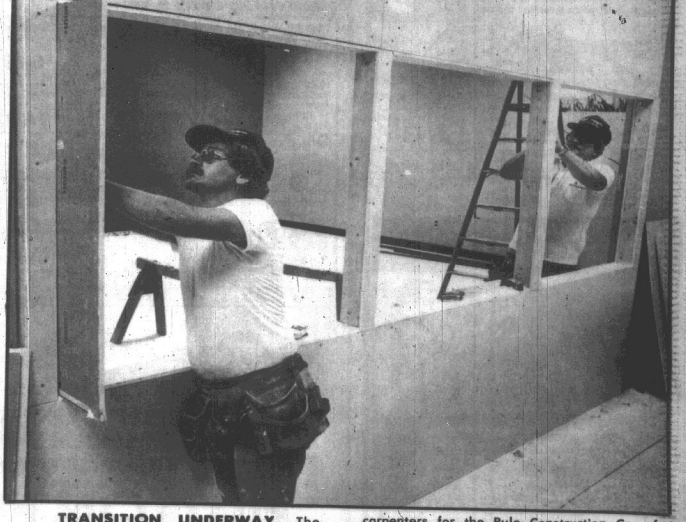

The sponsor of the proposed law is Fred "Pat" Schuman, assistant high school principal and a Granite City alderman, who is in the unique position to support a legislative solution to a problem that has frustrated him year after year.

"Most kids are conditioned from grade school to high school that nothing is really done (to truants)," Schuman said. In fact, the assistant principal commented, the students who thought that way might have been right.

The school district does hire an agency, the Co-ordinated Youth Services, to investigate cases of suspected truancy. What apparently has been a stumbling block to C.A. "Bud" MacMillan, executive director of Co-Ordinated Youth, is the prosecution of violators after truancy charges have been filed with the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Those cases must go through that office, since truancy laws are governed by state school codes. According to Schuman, getting relatively minor truancy cases prosecuted, in view of the workload of major criminal cases the

GCSHS musicians at Music and Youth camp

A group of youthful musicians from Granite City Senior High School are attending the "Music and Youth at Southern" camp on the Carbondale campus of Southern Illinois University this week.

During the week-long camp, a series of workshops focuses on furthering musical ability and knowledge with a curriculum that includes concert and jazz band work, music theory, history of jazz and choral programs.

Special activities during the evening hours will feature attendance at plays and musical performances.

Local students will join with others from throughout Southern Illinois in rehearsal sessions, culminating in a public concert on Saturday, July 16, the final day of camp.

Taking part in the camp on partial scholarships awarded by the Band Parents Association are Ji Hoon Chang, Dawn Johnson, Dana Churovich, Phil Hagen, John Kirkpatrick, Robert Kirkpatrick and Aaron Todd Miller.

The Nameoki Woman's Club selected Carolyn Butts, Sherry Chronister and Rob Malench to receive full scholarship grants to attend the camp, Joseph Owens, band director, announced.

Attending the program from the GCSHS Vocal Music Department is Holly Braundmeier, the recipient of a full scholarship award from the Ladies Coterie.

Mobile home tax letters mailed

By TORI WHITEHEAD

Madison County Treasurer Michael "Mick" Henkhaus said his office has mailed out more than 600 letters to persons owning back mobile home privilege taxes.

The letters give a payment deadline of July 20. Prosecution would follow.

Henkhaus said the owners being sent letters owe $290,000 of the more than $700,000 of the delinquent mobile home privilege taxes.

Henkhaus said a law passed a couple years ago to enable the county to put liens against the mobile homes will be very helpful in collecting the delinquent taxes.

He said the law used to allow liens to be placed against individuals, which did not mean much.

Attorney Sam Xanders has been hired to handle any court cases that may arise from the crackdown, Henkhaus said.

Any prosecution that my result from the letter will be financed by the $16,000 allotted by the county board June 15, Henkhaus said.

"We're going to start suing," he said, "Right now, we're concerned with getting mobile home people to pay."

Henkhaus said he was prepared to crackdown on delinquent mobile home privilege taxes about four years ago, but that then-State's Attorney Nick Byron lost the election and the whole plan was delayed.

Automatic garage doors pose danger to children

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, announced that there have been at least nine deaths in the last three years, including one in Illinois, as a result of children playing with automatic garage-door openers. There also have been numerous injuries, some quite severe.

"Additional deaths and injuries may be prevented if parents teach their children the hazards of playing games with the garage-door openers," Kempiners said.

With the door in the raised position, youngsters activate the door by means of the wall-mounted switch or remote control switch, then race out of the garage to "beat" the door before it closes. Accidents occur when the descending door strikes the child, sometimes pinning the victim to the ground.

Parents also can prevent garage-door accidents by locking the remote control switch in the glove compartment of the car or by relocating the wall-mounted switch away from the reach of children.

"Even garage doors having an automatic reverse mechanism should be adjusted periodically for sensitivity in accordance with the owner's manual," Kempiners said.

Quad-Cityans helped bike-a-thon benefit

More than $90,000 has been raised, thus far, by the 2,000 riders who participated in the American Diabetes Association's 11th Annual Bike-A-Thon held at 10 locations on May 7, and money is still coming in, according to Co-Chairmen Eileen Conner and Harriette Kacalieff. The Bike-A-Thon has now topped $1 million in support of diabetes research and the St. Louis camp for diabetic children, Camp EDI.

More than 200 prizes contributed by local businesses, professional sports teams, hotels and restaurants, theaters, etc., were recently awarded to riders raising the most money.

Some prize winners at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Bike-A-Thon route were: Jeffrey Moss, 11, of Collinsville, winner of the SIU route's top prize, a 12-speed bicycle; Daniel S. Kostencki of Madison, a can opener; Kort Cole, Luke M. Snell, Shelly Bollman, Nancy Alexander and Sharon Payne, all of Edwardsville, $10 gift certificates for Glik's, and Michelle Bridges and John Langbein, both of Granite City, two tickets for the Huck Finn Riverboat.

Trophies were awaded to the oldest and youngest riders returning sponsored money at each of the 10 Bike-A-Thon Routes. The oldest rider at Edwardsville was 54-year old Pat Buese of Alton and the youngest, Ricky Harshany of Granite City, age 2.

Hearings may clarify effects of GC tax hike

By GEORGEANN McGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City residents have been asked to remove emotion from their decision making, while considering a possible 52 percent increase in city property taxes. The higher tax bill would be collected next year.

Finance Committee Chairman Fred "Pat" Schuman, Second Ward, made that appeal Friday, saying some residents may not understand that a 52 percent hike in their city taxes does not reflect an equal increase on their overall tax bills.

The city's share of a homeowner's tax bill is about one-fifth of the total tax bill, a fact the alderman is trying to emphasis.

Schuman and his committee members, Alderman Sam Whitmer, Second Ward, and Jake Varadian, Fifth Ward, have come out strongly in support of a 73-cent rise in property taxes from $1.38 to $2.09 per $100 of assessed evaluation. Properties are assessed at one-third market value for taxing purposes.

In the past few years, higher tax levies have been defeated by the council.

An increase is slated to support future cost items, including the funding of sewer break repairs, the purchase of police cars and the impact of higher pension fundings. Greater tax revenues also are intended to make up for an expected decrease in federal funding and deficits in the city's ambulance service and wastewater treatment plant funds.

The increase will mean about $80 to $100 more tax next year (collected in the summer of 1984), for the average taxpayer. Schuman compared the effects of the proposed increase on a resident currently paying a $1,000 total tax bill on a "pretty-nice home." Of that amount, $200 goes to the city. A 50 percent increase of the city's share would mean an additional $100, for a total tax bill next year of $1,100.

At a 7:00 p.m. public hearing July 19 on the tax levy and budget, Schuman says he will demonstrate the relatively-static nature of the past tax levies, while costs have risen. He advised residents concerned about the levy to study a copy of the budget first before attending the hearing.

(An open committee meeting on the wastewater treatment plant budget to consider a possible doubling of the residential sewer bills will take place at 7 p.m. tomorow at city hall.)

Copies of the budget and a sheet of updated expenses will be available to the public through the city comptroller's office at the city hall. Besides reviewing the budget, Schuman is asking residents to contact their aldermen and city officials prior to the meeting, to be informed before speaking at the public meeting.

"I don't want this to be an emotional thing," Schuman commented. "I want them (residents) to understand it (the proposed budget)." The alderman said the city has been "very open" in its financial discussions this year.

Hearings set on budgets

The Granite City Park District, Venice City Council and Venice Park District will all be conducting public hearings this week on their 1983-84 fiscal year budgets.

The Granite City Park District will host a public hearing at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the park office, Benton and Oregon streets. The budget calls for expenditures of $933,575.

The Venice Park District will host a public hearing at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Venice Recreation Center.

The Venice City Council will hold a hearing at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Venice City Hall.

Copies of those respective budgets now are on display at the various offices.

The Granite City Council will hold a working meeting on the city's budgets at 7 p.m. this Tuesday and a public budget and levy hearing at 7 p.m. next Tuesday, July 19, at the Granite City Township Hall.

Pain group to meet here

Beginning this month, there will be two additional meeting locations of the Chronic Pain Outreach chapter which has been meeting in this area since October 1980, providing an emotional support system and practical help to individuals and families trying to cope with chronic pain or a debilitating disease process.

Group 3 will assemble on the second Monday of each month, starting tonight, at St. Mary on the Mount Rehabilitation Hospital, 9101 South Broadway, St. Louis, 7:30 to 9.

Group 4 will meet on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, beginning July 25, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, 7:30 to 9 p.m. Location will be Pascal Hall (ground floor near the new main entrance.)

Ed Brokaw will facilitiate the twice-monthly meetings here.

Members and their families say they benefit from emotional support, self-help ideas and informative materials provided by speakers.

This approach is credited with changed attitudes and lifestyles.

Group 1 convenes on first and third Monday evenings, 7:30 to 9, at St. Joseph Hospital of Kirkwood, 525 Couch Ave., and Group 2 on second and fourth Monday afternoons, 2 to 3:30, at St. Mary's Health Center, 6420 Clayton Road, Richmond Heights.

The CPO concept was started in 1976 in Manassas, Va., by Gwendolyn Talbot, and was incorporated in 1980 and granted non-profit tax-exempt status.

It is designed as a corollary to medical help. A no-fues group accepting voluntary contributions to help with expenses, it is run by lay people who have personal experience with pain outreach of St. Louis is a chapter of National Chronic Pain Outreach.

Ticket motorist after accident

Robert A. Phegley, 21, of Caseyville, was charged with failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident and driving while his license was expired at 10 p.m. Friday.

The citations were issued following an accident on Pontoon Road just west of Vesci Avenue. Official reports alleged that Phegley's station wagon struck the rear of an auto operated by Linda P. Wilkerson, 28, of 2536 Washington Ave., who sustained an injury.

Both vehicles were eastbound and the Wilkerson car had slowed for traffic when the mishap occurred, reports said.

Free Public Aid Hotline fights abuses, fraud

More than 9,600 calls were made last year to the Department of Public Aid's Fraud Hotline. The toll-free number, 1-800-252-8903, assists Public Aid by being available to those who may be reluctant to use other means to report instances of suspected welfare abuse.

The toll-free number, which has been in use since May, 1975, was established to receive information on abuses of state's welfare system.

The hotline operates 24 hours a day. Callers are asked to provide all possible information about the suspected welfre abuser, such as name, address, age, number of children and the name of employer, if the recipient is employed. Callers may remain anonymous.

you can BANK on it!

WILLIAM PATTON
Exec. Vice-President
GRANITE CITY TRUST

Q: I cannot balance my checkbook. What should I look for if I don't balance, other than the nearest brick wall to bang my head against?

A: If the figure in your checkbook isn't the same as that on the bank's statement, at least three things are possible: (1) A check or checks haven't cleared; (2) A deposit hasn't, as yet, been credited or (3) you or the bank has made an error. Reconcile by matching your returned checks against your checkbook ledger. List any not returned. Add unreturned checks to your checkbook balance, and subtract any service charges from it. Now check all deposits on the statement against those in your record and subtract those not shown on the statement. Finally, remember the trick we mentioned some months ago: Determine by what amount you and the bank do not agree. If that figure is divisible by nine, you've probably transposed a number somewhere along the line. If your efforts fail, call your bank.

Van Hook suit could test media

We have mixed feelings about a lawsuit filed Thursday against two St. Louis news media and others by the widow of the late Richard G. Van Hook, a Collinsville teacher who took his own life after being convicted of taking indecent liberties with a student of his.

Defendants are KMOX Television and its reporter Matt Meagher, the Globe-Democrat and reporter Patrick Gauen, along with State's Attorney Don Weber and the Rape Crisis Center and its director Pam Klein.

At issue is whether persecution and prosecution of Mr. Van Hook were responsible for him taking his own life. Suicide notes seem to indicate that he felt persecuted.

Television went so far as to follow Van Hook with a camera crew while he took his children to school and then to broadcast a series of special reports on him, even after Mr. Van Hook's death. Whether that was legitimate news judgment now is for a jury to decide.

There would be a danger in a judgment against the news media in this case. It could set a precedent that anytime a newspaper prints anything bad about a person, the paper then is responsible for what that person does afterward.

If a public official is caught driving while intoxicated or shoplifting or some other crime and the news media uses the story, they could be held responsible if he subsequently shoots himself out of public shame. It could have a chilling effect on coverage of "bad" news.

On the other side, the case could establish some guidelines of what is legitimately covering the news and what is going too far by the news media and the prosecution. We will watch the case with interest.

Hey, my paycheck just got bigger

If your last paycheck showed some signs of improvement, you are not alone.

President Reagan's 10 percent federal income tax cut took effect July 1 and most of us are just beginning to feel it. An additional $30 billion has been added to taxpayers' paychecks for the fiscal year which just began.

It could be good news, or bad news. Detroit expects to sell an additional 300,000 cars, hoping that the extra $10 or $12, or $20 per week might be enough to make the difference between a family being able to afford the monthly payments on a new car. For a family with two incomes, an extra $15 a week each will provide $120 a month for car payments, house payments, investments, the savings account or any other worthwhile item.

It can only help spur the economy.

Actually, the cut only helps compensate for recent increases in the Social Security and gasoline taxes and, soon, the Illinois income tax hike.

The dark side of the tax cut, however, is that there is $90 billion less in the U.S. treasury over the three-year span. That won't help reduce record federal deficits and there is fear that the deficits could shorten the economic recovery.

The major hope is that Americans will spend their new-found money buying items that will put more Americans to work. More workers will pay more taxes and thriving industries will pay heftier tax bills, thus helping reduce the federal deficit.

Investments by taxpayers will help keep Wall Street booming and provide more real money in the economy, it is hoped.

We say, let's give this tax break a chance to work, and enjoy it at the same time.

Perhaps a new way to pave roads

Save your old automobile tires because Rep. Dick Klemm (R-Crystal Lake) feels there is a use for them.

He wants the state to consider making some road repairs by mixing asphalt with rubber from ground-up recycled tires. Illinois Department of Transportation officials said they have not looked into the possibility as yet.

"In a recent news magazine from Argonne National Laboratory, I noticed the report of a study demonstrating that grinding used rubber tires into an asphalt mixture for use on roadways produces positive results," said Klemm.

A project in Phoenix, Ariz., used asphalt-rubber to pave some road sections and, over a number of years, no cracks have developed, he added.

The federal government has allocated some $25 million in the next two fiscal years which seeks to develop programs for using tire-asphalt mixtures, according to Klemm.

"If the federal government is willing to help us, we should see how well it works here in Illinois," Klemm said. "It would help us clean up the environment."

It seems worthy of some study.

Feels unemployment benefits unjustly denied

To the Editor:

When I first needed Public Aid, I had to apply three times and was denied each time. Then I wrote Melvin Price and finally got it.

Then, after a length of time, they put my husband on a work program, but that didn't do any good because there just weren't any jobs. After a while he got a part time job with School District 9 as a custodian, but he only works if they call him and he don't call substitute custodians in the summer.

School ended May 27, and so did his job, and Public Aid sent us a letter telling us to reapply. We did in June, but were denied because we didn't get a letter in on time.

The caseworker told us to reapply again. We reapplied and we got a different caseworker and she told us we were denied before we even had a chance to give her our papers that she needed. She said, "You're in too early, there is no way you can get a check before the end of August or beginning of September." She told us to come back and reapply at the beginning of August.

When I called back later that day, I asked to speak to Ted Funkhouser administrator. They wouldn't even let me talk to him. One lady told me I could get AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children). "You made too much in May so we voided you for June and canceled you for July." In other words, they took the money from May that my husband made, which wasn't much — about $260 — and wanted us to live on it for three months.

My rent is 200 a month and my utilities are about 60 or 70 a month. That comes to about $780.00 for three months, and that's not including food and medical expense for my two little girls. There's no way we can get by on that.

Public Aid sent me a letter saying I will receive my medical card until September. But when they told us to reapply and we did they said, "When you reapply for everything, it automatically stopped the other medical card." They told me this after they had me come in and reapply. So, we don't even have that.

They are going to give us food stamps for June and July, but what good does that do if you can't cook, because they are going to turn off my power and I'll probably get evicted and, if I get evicted, I won't have an address. Without an address, they can't send me food stamps.

Because of all this, my husband and I will have to split up because of what Public Aid has done to us. We've been married almost four years and now it will sadly end because of them.

No matter what happens, I am going to fight Public Aid. I will take it to court if I have to and sue for punitive damages and get all the money I was suppose to get when I applied the first time in June. I know the caseworkers are wrong when two different ladies tell me two different stories.

If anyone has had anything like this happen to them... I know if we all stick together maybe we can beat them at their own game. Because I know they have got to be wrong sometimes. Every machine makes errors.

PR Readers React

Quad-Cityans shopping downtown Friday were asked their reactions about the American Medical Association's recent report which stated there were no known cases of dioxin causing cancer. With that being the case, they were also asked if the media had created a "dioxin scare." Their reactions follow:

PEGGY GREEN

FRED BILYEU

Peggy Green, Granite City

"That's true there are no confirmed cases of dioxin, but too, I think it may be too soon to tell if dioxin causes cancer. I think someday they'll discover that dioxin does cause cancer. No, I don't think the media is blowing the dioxin thing out of proportion. I think the public has to be made aware of it."

Fred Bilyeu, Granite City

"I feel the whole think is a bunch of baloney. As they (the AMA) said there are true cases of dioxin causing cancer. I think they (the media) should have said that dioxin possibly causes cancer, and then left it alone. Yes, I think the whole thing is out of proportion."

DONNA JORDON

DIANNA MARKOVICH

Donna Jordon, Mitchell

"Like everyone, I'd be upset if dioxin , was found in my backyard. As for the (AMA) report, I think too many things are covered up and too many things are over reported. However, I do think the media has to let the people know if something is possibly hazardous to the public's health. No, I don't think it's been blown out of proportion."

Dianna Markovich, Granite City

"I heard about the AMA report. Although, they don't know what causes cancer, how do they know dioxin really isn't a cause? I work at the Barnard Cancer Center at Washington University in St. Louis, and I see a heck of a lot of cancer. I think even if there's a chance that it may cause cancer, people should know. We shouldn't have to live in a contaminated environment. After all, 40 years ago they didn't think cigarette smoking had any link to cancer. No, I don't think the media has over reported dioxin. People need to know."

Says the U.S. must maintain arms balance

To the Editor:

Plato once said, "Only the dead shall know the end of war."

This statement has been ringing throughout the ages concurrently with incessant war-making. It shatters the sterile theories of the appeasing intellectuals who make a living by writing theoretical memorandums to each other and scaring the populace into a willingness to sacrifice military superiority under the guise of peace.

The United States will go to war again, no matter how much effort is made to prevent it. It is essential to be prepared to meet the onslaught and to win, if we wish to retain our current lifestyle — a lifestyle that has given to its people more of the good things of life than any other system that man has evolved.

We may not plan to fight a war, but the Kremlin does. Current Soviet military doctrine says, "We must gain military superiority among all things so that we can fight the nuclear war to come and win."

The Soviets elaborate civil defense system is concrete proof of Russia's preparation for this eventual struggle and signals their intent to win it. This great emphasis on population survival can only be justified in terms of a Soviet-initiated conflict, since their leaders are aware that the United Sttes has no aggressive designs against them. The tragedy is that our government officials consistently ignore the obvious.

The curent administration says the greatest danger in the world is the existence of large nuclear weapons inventories and challenging an enemy who intends to destroy us. We are supposed to limit U.S. capability while the Soviets expand theirs.

We are told that military parity or equivalence (known as Mutual Assured Destruction), rather than military superiority, will lessen chances of war.

When two opponents believe each has equivalence, there is always the chance that one will think he can win and risk a fight. But who is going to attack an opponent clearly stronger than he?

As Will Rogers once stated, "I've never seen anyone insult Jack Dempsey."

When Mutual Assured Destruction is not mutual, and in the case of the SALT II treaty, it becomes Assured Destruction for the nation that does not defend itself.

To encourag unilateral disarmament, the citizenry is intimidated with such statements that we now have enough nuclear weapons to kill everyone several times. This argument of "overkill" is sophomoric. There are also enough rifle bullets in the world to kill everyone five times over, if someone could arrange the people in the right formations, have them submit to being killed, and everyone shooting never missed.

The real problem, as revealed in a Pentagon study, is this! Should the Soviets attack and we retaliate (with a second strike capability), the U.S. would lose 14-160 million people while the Soviet Union would suffer 15-20 million dead. This is hardly "killing everyone in the world five times over." But it is killing the U.S., along with its Western values, and once is quite enough.

The greatest danger in the world is not nuclear weapons themselves, but superior military power in the hands of an aggressive totalitarian power bent on using it to force its ideology on the world.

Madison studies new agreement with SCA

Although the Madison aldermen were of the opinion that an agreement for trash dumping had been reached between the city and SCA Services, Mayor Mike Sasyk informed them at the last city council meeting that a contract with SCA was received with many changes listed.

"In respect to the changes, I have a meeting set up with SCA officials for them to explain the changes and see if they are acceptable to the city. After the discussions, I will be able to give a report at the next council meeting," the mayor explained.

The initial lease agreement presented at the June meeting would give Madison the right to dump 1,025 cubic yards of trash each month at a landfill between Madison and East St. Louis, free for two years with an additional two-year extension if SCA could use the Chain of Rocks dump location.

The mayor did not elaborate on the specific changes.

John Dutko, building inspector, reported that 16 permits were issued through the month and he announced the court ruled in favor of the city in conjunction with property 2053 Rhodes St. The city had filed for condemnation of the real estate earlier this year. The owners have 30 days to reply with immediate plans to renovate the dwelling or the city can then proceed to raze it, Dutko said.

Petitions for special use permits received from Jeanne DaCunha and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Helton were referred to the city Zoning Board for a hearing and the board's recommendation is to be forwarded to the city council for action.

Approval was granted to Sacred Heart Polish National Catholic Church, 930 Reynolds St., Madison, to close off a portion of Plum Street during the Polka Fest, which is sponsored by the church, on July 22, 23 and 24.

In other business the alderman gave permission to Judy Donaldson, acting comptroller, to transfer $35,000 from the sale from the Waggoner property (located in the Industrial Park) from the General Fund to the Alarm Service Fund.

Aldermen also approved bills on the David Connole Alpine Village Shopping Center from Schermer's Garden Shop for $225 and United Electric for $69, to be paid from the Industrial Revenue Bond funds, and a total of $46,144 in bills for the city for the previous month.

Madison Junior Service Club was given permission to hold a roadblock at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue on July 8 to raise funds to benefit Hospice of Madison County.

Social Security increase postponed until January

The automatic Social Security benefit increase based on the cost of living, previously effective each July, will be delayed for six months, to January, 1984, because of a recent law designed to strengthen the Social Security system, Oliver Holmes, Social Security district manager in East St. Louis, said.

The purpose of the delay is to save the system money and help it regain its financial strength, Holmes said. Largely because of economic conditions in recent years, Social Security has had an increasingly severe financial problem.

The changes in the law are designed to meet the problem both in the near-term and into the years after 2000. Other changes provide previous law for 1985 will go into effect in 1984. The new 1984 rate will be 7 percent each for employees and employers, up from the previous rate of 6.7 percent. But, employees will receive a tax credit against 1984 taxes of 0.3 percent, which will be given when taxes are deducted from wages. In effect, 1984 employee taxes will remain at the level set under previous law.

Also, part of the tax rate increase scheduled for 1990 will go into effect in 1988.

Starting in 1984, the Social Security self-employment tax rate will be equal to the combined employee-employer tax on wages. This will be 14 percent for 1984. Previously the rate for self-employed people was about 1½ times the employee rate.

Under the new law, self-employed income for 1984; 2.3 percent for 1985, and 2 percent for 1988-89. After 1989, these credits will be replaced with deductions designed to treat the self-employed in much the same manner as employees and employers are treated for Social Security and income tax purposes.

A free leaflet, "Social Security Strengthened" is available at the East St. Louis Social Security office which tells about all the changes in Social Security. The office is located at 650 Missouri Ave., and the telepone number is 274-4100.

REBUILD ROUTE 111 HARTFORD CROSSING

The Illinois Department of Transportation reports that Illinois Route 111 in Hartford will be detoured over the adjacent frontage road between 7th Street and the Shell Oil refinery main entrance from today through July 22. The frontage road will then be closed from July 25 through July 29.

The closures and detouring are necessary due to reconstruction of grade crossings of the Norfolk and Western (formerly Illinois Terminal) railroad immediately north of Rand Avenue. The crossings are being raised and rebuilt with new timber material on Highway 111 and with timber material on Highway 111 and with timber and bituminous materials on the frontage road.

Jamie Cornett earns teacher scholarship

Teacher Special Education Scholarships have been awarded to seven recent graduates of Madison County high schools, including Jamie Lin Cornet of Granite City High School South.

Nine applications were submitted by Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools of Madison County, in May to the Illinois State Board of Education. Out of 250 issued statewide under Section 30 of the Illinois School Code on the basis of, composite ACT scores, seven were issued to Madison County.

The recipients and non-recipients have been notified by Briggs. Applicants are required to certify they will train in the field of special education teaching and that they will teach in the schools of Illinois for at least two of the five years immediately following graduation.

Applicants not receiving scholarships at this time remain eligible if any are returned unused. The other recipients are: Amy Ann Smolar of Edwardsville High School, Carey Marlene Clark of Roxana High School, Delin Kemstra Friedline of Civic Memorial High School in Bethalto, Beth Ellen Nevinger of St. Paul High School in Highland and Elizabeth Ann Horvath and Sharon Ellen McBride, both of Edwardsville High School.

Pontoon Beach girl shocked Saturday

Pontoon Beach police are continuing their investigation to determine the circumstances surrounding the apparently severe shocking of an 11-year-old girl Saturday afternoon.

Lisa Jones, daughter of Shelby and Carolyn Jones, 27 Tulip Court, is a patient at Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis. No details were available about her condition this morning.

Police said that Miss Jones was playing with a ball in a pool at 7 Lily Court about the time the incident occurred. Details were sketchy at press time and a spokesman for the police said it is unclear exactly what happened.

A representative of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where Miss Jones was first taken for treatment, said that the girl apparently fell on an electrical wire while she was holding on to some sort of metal pole.

Miss Jones was taken by Campbell Ambulance to SEMC and then transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital.

Man injured in robbery attempt

Rodney W. Allen, 41 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, told Venice police at 2 a.m. Friday that two men attempted to rob him while he was walking in the West Madison area.

Allen suffered a nine-inch slash to the left side of his face and was taken by officers to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Stephen Allen, the victim's brother, reported seeing the incident, but didn't know that his brother was being robbed. After realizing that something was wrong, he yelled at the men, causing the robbers to flee from the scene, he said.

Fund decision

tor in the Madison aid reduction, along with industrial assessment patterns.

A "doomsday" state budget was avoided as adjournment neared when legislators voted $1,300,000,000 in new taxes. But numerous school systems still plan sharp staffing cutbacks and will operate fewer schools.

Compared to 18 buildings in use through May, District Nine will open only 12 schools to students on Aug. 23.

Locally and elsewhere in Illinois, schools have been offering their employees early retirement incentives and opportunities.

Some teachers have accepted retirement at age 55, but in addition to that many relatively young teachers have had to be taken off the payroll— by honorable dismissal—to help districts adjust to the scarcity of pupils and dollars.

In the midst of such concerns, Illinois legislators have sent to Governor James R. Thompson a bill to toughen curriculum requirements for high school students in mathematics, science and English.

At the same time, the General Assembly failed to ease its mandates for physical education and driver education, despite some school groups' employees. It cites the widening gap between industry-support efforts in other lands and the absence of such policies and programs in this country.

"In too many instances, our growing dependence on foreign products is not at all a part of a healthy and mutually beneficial interdependence based on a natural and fundamental comparative advantage.

"No, it is not a sound, mutually helpful exchange of products.

"Imports are displacing domestically produced goods in countless instances because of the artificial, government-created advantages that they receive at home.

"We are not suggesting government subsidies or price supports. But federal trade officials need to recognize steelmakers' dilemma and create a policy that effectively counteracts the competitive advantage now held by foreign producers."

Williams said competition from overseas is not the only factor in steelmakers' big financial losses.

The economic recession is a major contributor, he conceded, adding:

"There is much that we must do internally, as well. Workers must work with management to be competitive, not against other U.S. steel firms but against foreign steel companies. Otherwise, none of us will have jobs in the future.

"The new labor agreement has helped us to curb costs but we have continued to lay off workers and close marginal plants. In the past two years, we at Bethlehem have reduced our staff by 40 percent or 10,000 persons. A good question is, 'Why didn't we do so earlier?'

"Aside from the problems of domestic costs and the dumping of subsidized steel from abroad, the long-range outlook is somewhat promising, although not outrageously optimistic."

The automotive industry, which accounts for about 20 percent of U.S.-made steel, is showing sales gains, he said.

Also cited was the need for extensive rebuilding of America's infrastructure, including reconstruction of many highways.

"We do not look for 1983 to be a bonanza, but we do see slow improvement in 1984," the speaker concluded.

The combination of tariffs and import quotas announced in Washington for foreign specialty steel drew criticism from Great Britain and from the European Economic Community. It was asserted that Pres. Reagan's action on behalf of steel firms violates or comes close to violating anti-protectionist principles signed at the Williamsburg, Va., economic summit meeting in May.

Effective in 15 days, 8 percent to 10 percent tariffs will be placed on stainless steel, strip and plate imports. The tariff on all three products will drop to 4 percent in four years.

The program sets global tonnage quotas for bar, rod and alloy tool steel.

In a joint statement, United Steelworkers and major producers said the action is insufficient, adding that "tariffs can easily be offset by additional foreign subsidies."

In a letter to Congress, Mr. Reagan said, "The pervasive nature of unfair trading practices in specialty steel" has led to idle plants and heavy unemployment.

He said he hopes the program will "give the industry time to complete investment projects, improve productivity and restore profitability."

Republic Steel last week said it may be unable to pay dividends on its common stock during the rest of 1983 and that its orders from a major auto consumer will be reduced significantly. Republic lost $239 million in 1982 and major losses are projected for this year.

In regard to the major types of steelmaking, domestic firms as a group are reducing their losses this year but say they are still plagued by inadequate price levels. With nearly 70 percent of the nation's steel capacity idle, steep discounts from list prices are being offered.

Among those pushing for specialty steel action by the federal government in recent weeks was U.S. Senator Alan J. Dixon of Illinois.

The action also was urged June 15 in an Illinois House resolution drawn up by the Illinois Steel Caucus, a panel of legislators whose chairman is State Rep. Sam W. Wolf of Granite City.

for the three months because the U.S. Department of Agriculture, while expanding the types of food given out, has somewhat reduced the total amount of commodities for Madison County.

New income guidelines for the food distribution are: one person, $488 monthly income limit; family of two, $648; three, $808; four, $969; five, $1,129; six, $1,290; seven, $1,450; eight, $1,610; and for each additional family member, an added $129.

City may fight

state's attorney's staff must handle, has been too slow.

Meanwhile, students on the borderline, wavering between skipping school or not, "see other kids getting away with it" and from there on the problem snowballs, Schuman said.

The idea of the new law is to make truancy a violation of a local ordinance that can be prosecuted at the pace of the city's own legal staff.

"It could be very important to us," said Schuman. If the ordinance becomes effective before the start of school, he hopes prosecution of the handful of chronic truants in September could be used as an example to prevent the stream of others that seems to always follow.

Schuman believes vigorous prosecution by city attorneys early on in the school year could result in the need for no more than, perhaps, six to eight truancy cases all year.

The suggested law carries a $25 to $500 daily fine for violators and is aimed at adults who allow their children to miss school and persons who harbor children during school sessions.

The ordinance also applies to those who employ school children during school sessions, unless under an approved work-study program.

The law applies to children between 7 and 16 and also those younger than 7 and older than 16 if enrolled in grades 1-12.

"Most truants don't have home supervision and basically run their own lives, but are throwing their lives down the drain," Schuman said. He added that some students, rather than losing interest in school due to an inability to learn, are quite intelligent.

"They are not discipline problems. They are just not going to school," he emphasized.

He is a believer in a firmly defined method of discipline as an effective deterrent to school problems.

Schuman, the son of retired Circuit Judge Fred P. Schuman, is optimistic the new ordinance will act as such a deterrent. He cited a sharp decrease in school fights when the guilty parties faced automatic three-day suspensions.

The ordinance received the endorsement of the Granite City Community Unit District Nine board last month.

The council is expected to take a final vote on the truancy law at the July 19 council meeting. The ordinance passed its first reading 13-1, with Alderman Paul Bowler objecting to costs that might be incurred by the city for what he termed a school district problem. Bowler is a former high school teacher here.

The law would only apply to students residing within the city and would exclude those enrolled in private schools, those deemed physically or mentally unable to attend school, those attending confirmation classes and those in approved work situations.

Pregnancy and motherhood would not exempt women from attending school unless there were complications verified by a physican.

ought to suffer loss of tenure, job security or status, the AFT concluded.

Asserting that starting pay of teachers now averages $12,000, the delegates urged boosting that level by at least $6,000 or $8,000.

The Natiol Education Association, which met in Philadelphia, strongly opposed merit pay while the AFT said it is striving to keep an "open mind" on the issue.

Moore sentenced

Frederick J. Hess referred to another armed robbery by the Army of God. He said a a man took between $200 and $400 after entering a Houston clinic last summer.

Hess told Judge Beatty the Moores—as part of their plea bargaining with prosecutors—admitted taking part in robberies and other crimes.

The federal attorney said the robberies were committed in part to fund such anti-abortion activities as kidnapping, arson and bombing. The Moores acknowledged helping Anderson plant a pipe bomb that damaged a clinic in Falls CXhurch, Va., on June 6, 1982.

Matthew Moore was sentenced to eight years on each of two counts, and he will have to serve at least six years. Wayne Moore is to be released when the U.S. Bureau of Prisons determines that he has been rehabilitated.

Hess said the Moores are protected from additional prison terms for any other federal crimes. But they have no protection from state charges, and they face trial in Madison County for kidnapping and armed robbery of the Zevalloses.

Seek clean-up

N.L. Industries (National Lead) in 1979. The waste pile was started in 1903.

Representatives from the attorney general's office have been in negotiations with Taracorp since April in an effort to lay specific groundrules for preventing dust from blowing from the firm's property and to find a means to clean up the lead pile. Legally binding agreements are being sought.

In a preliminary report of lead pollution levels here, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) found lead levels reaching 30 percent at the smelter grounds: Approximate levels within a block area were 2,000 parts per million, with decreasing levels detected in samples taken farther distances from the plant's location. According to the IEPA, "lead levels in the soil near residential areas are very high." The area with "significant lead contamination includes southwestern Granite City, northern Madison and northern Venice."

The report urges that children ages 6 and younger be prevented from eating outdoors or playing in the dirt, if they live within a half-mile of the lead plant. All residents in the area have been warned not to put dirt, dirty hands or dirty objects in their months.

Residents in the area also have been asked to plant grass or other ground cover in residential areas where dirt is exposed. Gardeners have been asked to wash vegetables from home gardens thoroughly.

Preliminary blood tests apparently showed no extremely high levels of blood-lead pollution, but tests are continuing because uncertainty remains in the conclusions drawn. Tests of well water also are continuing.

Lead can be absorbed into the bloodstream by inhaling airborne particulates containing lead, or ingesting lead through food, soil or water. Lead intoxication has been associated with severe nerve disorders, such as profound retardation, tremors and a loss of memory.

Attends 20th Army reunion

Damian Caffrey, 1832 Cleveland Blvd., has returned from Chattanooga, Tenn., where he attended the 20th annual reunion of Company F, 363rd Regiment of the U.S. Army's 91st Division.

Caffrey spent the weekend with 26 members of F Company, representing 12 different states, who fought together in the Italian Campaign during World War II.

The group held a business meeting and elected to hold its next reunion in Mount Prospect, Ill. In 1985, members will convene near Atlanta, Ga., and in 1986 will meet in Franklin, Tenn.

A different member sponsors the reunion each year, Caffrey explained.

Burglars loot Paddlers club

Burglars entered the main building at Paddlers Swim Club, 2121 Johnson Road, stealing a large quantity of food from the concession stand and other items from the pump room, it was reported last week by Richard Williams and Armel Allen, pool managers.

The intruders apparently climbed the chain link fence surrounding the property near a guard's shack, breaking off a light standard in the process, it was reported.

A padlock was cut from a door leading to the main building, where the concession area was looted. The quantity and estimated value of the stolen food items had not been determined at the time of the report.

Taken from the pump room were a tool box, containing various tools and weighing nearly 50 pounds, with an estimated value of between $200 and $300, an AM-FM radio, a large pipe wrench, a public address system and a microphone.

Two outdoor speakers valued at $100 earlier were reported missing from the pool area.

Police catch 3 at Farm Fresh

One man and two youths were nabbed by police in the early morning hours last week after an employee of the Farm Fresh Milk Stores said he saw them trying to steal soda bottles from behind two of the stores.

Donald G. Rogers, 20, of 1877 Pontoon Road, was charged with attempted theft and contributing to the delinquency of a child. Michael G. Doss, 17, of 4216 Nameoki Road and a 16-year-old juvenile were both charged with attempted theft and curfew violations.

Larry Clay, the employee whose father owns the store at 2928 Nameoki Road, told police he had been watching the stores after closing hours because a huge number of bottles had been stolen recently.

While sitting in the parking lot of Schnucks, watching the store at 3715 Nameoki Road, Clay said he saw a car with its headlights off stop behind Farm Fresh. He said he saw someone exit the car and start to climb over a fence behind the store that blocks off an area where bottles are kept.

When a truck drove by, the person climbing the fence stopped, returned to the car and left. Clay said he followed the car south on Nameoki Road to Wilson Avenue.

He said the car turned in the alley behind Eddie's Lounge and drove north, approaching the Farm Fresh at 2928 Nameoki Road with its headlights off. Three people got out of the car and stood around for a while and then one of them climbed the fence, Clay said.

Police had been summoned and one officer approached the store down the alley from the north and another approached from the south.

They said they saw someone inside the fence and found the other two standing at the rear of the car. The trunk of the car was open, police said.

SPORTS PRESS-RECORD Monday

In Collinsville Saturday

Lewis' grand slam homer sends Triplets packing

By JIM WOODCOCK
for the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — On Saturday, Post 365 hurler Doug Fish pitched six innings against Smithton in an 8-6 Collinsville victory. A short break and a few glasses of water later, Fish started his second game of the day against Granite City.

Such a move by Post 365 Manager Jack Parker illustrates the unstable pitching scene for the local Legion club.

But to go one further, Fish was relieved in the fourth inning of the Granite City contest by none other than Glenn Heflin, who had just returned to club after having surgery. Heflin, by the way, had not pitched in three years.

So when Heflin needed relief assistance in the seventh inning, who did Parker send to the mound? Fish, of course, for his 10th inning of work on the day.

And when considering that Post 365 also managed to come from behind three different times to chalk up a wild 12-10 victory over the Granite City club, it can make a case for one of the most unusual contests seen around Fletcher Field in a while.

"You tell me what happened out there today," Parker said following the contest. "All I can say is we were fortunate to have won two today."

Collinsville's victory over Granite City improved Collinsville's record to an 8-7 mark in the District 22 North Division. And perhaps overshadowed by Collinsville's pitching tale was the bat of Tom Lewis.

Lewis was most impressive in the fifth inning against Granite City, when he rocketed a fastball from relief hurler Vince Mitchell over the fence for a grand slam.

Lewis also contributed a round-tripper in the early game against Smithton as well as three other hits Saturday.

Against Granite City, Post 365 spread 13 safeties throughout the lineup, with six different players sharing the RBIs.

But Parker indicated that even with the unique Collinsville pitching approach, and even with the heavy hitting, Post 365 also turned out its best performance on the basepaths.

"We looked super on the bases today," Parker said. "We forced them to make needless throws, and that's what got us around the bases. They (Granite City) just made too many mistakes in the game."

But as far as starting the game and later cleaning up in relief, Fish said that "I might have done it before at Althoff, with some of the stuff we did there."

Fish went three innings against Granite City, and gave up three runs, all in the first frame.

But once the Post 365 right-hander got that inning out of the way, he set down the visitors in order while his mates got the three runs back against Granite southpaw Mike Zukas.

Marc Parker, who once again handled the catching chores, drove in Lewis in the first for the first of his two RBIs in the contest.

Collinsville then squared the game at 3-3 in the second frame, when first baseman Steve Giacoletto drove in Chris Peacock and Damon Bueherer with a base hit down the right-field line.

Peacock later drove in the lead run in the third frame, scoring Brett Holten to put Post 365 on top 4-3.

Heflin strolled to the mound in the fourth inning on a volunteer mission that ultimately earned him the win.

The Triplets caught Collinsville in the fourth when Mitchell singled, stole second and went to third when the throw hit him and went into left field. He then trotted home on Scott Corey's sacrifice fly to center.

After Collinsville took a 6-4 lead in the fourth, Granite hit Heflin's dirtball for three runs, the big blow coming on Mitchell's triple to right field. The shot drove home Dave Sheikh and John Linhart, and Mitchell also crossed the plate when the relay throw to third from Lewis went into the Granite dugout.

For Collinsville, now trailing 7-6, the heat began to wear on Zukas. At one point, the Triplet pitcher issued 14 straight balls, loading the bases while also walking home Eddie Keturakis, who reached earlier on a double to the fence.

Then when he fell behind Lewis on a 2-0 count, Tri-City manager Larry Corey brought Mitchell in from third to relieve Zukas.

After working the count full, Lewis belted his grand slam over the 350 mark in right-centerfield. "It was a fastball out over the plate," Lewis said.

Holten, who had a perfect 4-for-4 day, added to the Collinsville scoring in the fifth when he scored on a throwing error by Zukas, who had moved to right.

HE'S MAD. Ed Barrett of the Bethalto American Legion baseball team argues with the home plate umpire that he was safe at the plate in the third inning of Friday's game between Tri-City and Bethalto. Tri-City left fielder Milt Roe threw to catcher Daren DePew to Barrett out. Tri-City eventually won the game 24-3.

Pitching fails as O'Fallon downs MAC Jr. Legion

MITCHELL — Mitchell Athletic Club added another loss to it's Jr. Legion baseball record this weekend losing 6-3 to O'Fallon Saturday night at Mitchell.

MAC's biggest problem is pitching. Greg Ehlers, Gerald Booker and Gary King gave up a total of eight hits, six runs, and seven walks to O'Fallon, while striking out only one.

The game was scoreless until the third, when O'Fallon took a two-run lead. Chuck Buehler got on base on a single down the left field line and Todd McClure was hit by a pitch, both scored when Bruce Morrison singled up the middle.

MAC finally scored in the fourth, getting one run on singles by Doug Druhe and Gary King.

O'Fallon also got a single run in the fourth and had a 3-1 lead going into the sixth. O'Fallon added three more tallies in the sixth. With two out and none on, Buehler hit another single down the left field line.

The next two batters, Jeff Schmidt, and Todd McClure, walked and all three scored on a single by Todd Biehn.

MAC scored two more runs in the sixth, one by Sam Tate and one by Ehlers, but failed to overtake O'Fallon, losing by score of 6-3.

MAC also lost Friday night at home. Belleville won that game 10-3.

Sheikh boosts Triplets to 24-3 romp of Bethalto

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Dave Sheikh was never known for his hitting as the center fielder for the Granite City North Steelers during the spring. It probably would have been a surprise if he would have hit a home run then.

Now, it's a different story. Sheikh is leading the Tri-City American Legion baseball team with a .412 average (as of Friday). Friday, Sheikh was 5-for-6, hit two home runs and drove in six runs as the Triplets crushed Bethalto 24-3 at Granite City North.

Sheikh, who had one of the lightest batting averages on the heavy-hitting North team, found the door to successful hitting an easy one to open.

"I was hitting .100 after the first five games this season as not doing that well during the school season, but I 'm doing fine now," Sheikh said.

Tri-City Manager Larry Corey needed to tell Sheikh only one thing to tranform him from a .100 hitter to a .400-plus power hitter. Corey told Shiekh to hold onto the bat a little longer and take a quick swing at the ball.

"I was lunging at the ball rather than swinging hard at it," Sheikh said. "When you're tense, you can't hit the ball well. The key to hitting home runs is to keep your head in there and keep your arms relaxed. Since I've done that, my hitting's improved."

Sheikh was able to produce despite having a sore shoulder which kept him from playing his usual center field position. As the designated hitter, he was to bunt his first three times at bat.

He only had to bunt once, his first time at the plate. Sheikh bunted for a hit in the first inning and scored the first run on Daren DePew's double.

In the fourth inning, he was to bunt again, but with a two-strike count on him, Corey told him to swing away. He put the ball over the right field fence and drove in Milt Roe, who had walked prior to the blast.

In the fifth, Roe singled, and Sheikh came through again with a double. But that wasn't all that inning.

The side had batted around, and Roe reached again on a double. Sheikh responded with his second two run home runs, also over the right field fence.

"With runners on, I thought I had to swing at the ball to get the runners home," Sheikh said.

For added measure, Sheikh drove Roe home with a single.

"He's really hit the ball well, and he's hitting it with power," Corey said about Sheikh, who has hit around .500 since Corey gave him the batting tip.

Sheikh wasn't the only big hitter in Tri-City's romp. Every Triplet who batted had at least one hit. In all, Tri-City had 23 hits. Rick Daily was 4-for-5. Roe was 3-for-4 with a walk, Patterson was 2-for-2 with three walks.

Despite the heavy hitting, Corey wasn't overjoyed by the win. "It was another awful game," Corey said. "We lost one Thursday (a 15-6 loss to Alton) and now we won one today. It's better to be on the winning side."

After Sheikh scored in the first, DePew scored on Daily's two-run homer over the left field fence. John Linhart singled, went to second on an error, moved to third on Scott Corey's sacrifice fly. Patterson walked, and the Triplets executed a perfect double steal. Bethalto did not make a play on Linhart coming home.

Vince Mitchell doubled in the third and scored on Brian Levin's single for another run.

After Roe and Sheikh opened the fourth inning. Daily walked, stole second and went to scored on a wild pitch. Linhart and Mitchell walked, and Patterson brought them home with a single.

The killer inning was Tri-City's eight-run fifth inning. Sheikh doubled home Roe and scored on Daily's triple. Linhart walked, and Mitchell doubled home Daily. Patterson and Corey brought in runs with singles, and Roe drove home two batters with a double. Sheikh's second home run ended the inning.

Tri-City added five more in the sixth with a single by Daily, a double by Linhart, a RBI double by Levin, a walk to Patterson, a RBI double by Roe and RBI single by Sheikh.

"Everytime you lose like we did to Alton, you come back and win the same way," Sheikh said.

"Their starting pitcher (Gary Bost) seemed to have pretty good stuff, but I guess we were hitting the ball exceptionally well tonight," Corey said.

Almost forgotten among all the runs was Dan Whitsell's pitching performance. Whitsell, who was knocked out of the first inning Thursday against Alton, pitched the entire game Friday. He gave up eight hits, but he only walked one and struck out five batters.

"Had he not been able to pitch the game, we might have been in trouble," Corey said. "He was able to get past the first inning without any trouble, and he pitched a good game."

Mann, Lemaster are recruited by GCC

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Two more Quad-Cityans are among the several athletes who will represent Granite City College this coming year on the athletic field.

MANN

LEMASTER

The two, Kelly Mann and Joe Lemaster, have become the latest of Coach Larry Petri's Star soccer recruits. Both were members of Granite City South's 1980 state championship soccer team.

Mann, 20, is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School South, while Lemaster, 19, graduated in 1982.

Mann, who is 6-feet-2½ tall, will represent the fledging Granite City junior college as a backfielder-fullback. The lanky Mann cites his height and his ability to get to head balls as his biggest asset.

Lemaster, who will be the Coach Larry Petri's goalkeeper this season, also ranges well above six feet tall. A transfer student from Aurora College in Aurora, Lemaster comes to GCC after Aurora dropped art, his major, from its curriculum.

As a goalkeeper, Lemaster played two years of varsity soccer for Granite City South. A member of the Press-Record and All-State teams his senior year, Lemaster goal-per-game average was an impressive .333 his senior year at South.

The modest Lemaster credits that impressive credential to the Warrior defense that year, but Petri knows differently.

"I think his credentials speak very highly of him. The fact that his (goal per game) average is so low speaks highly of his defense, but you've also got to be a heck of a goalkeeper too," Petri said.

Petri cited Mann in his midfield-backfield position as a strong asset to a defense which, too, will assist Lemaster's cause.

"I'm really happy to get both Mann and Lemaster," Petri said. "These too guys have played together in the past which is an asset and also they are state caliber material. They've already proven that," Petri said.

Mann and Lemaster are Petri's sixth and seventh signees of the year respectively. They join first and second signees and fellow Granite Cityans Benny Nolan and Tim Dean as well as Rick Moder, Ed Freesmeier and Jim Dole of St. Louis.

Mann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mann and Lemaster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Lemaster.

Other Quad-City Granite City College recruits include for the Star's basketball team Granite City South's star forward of last season Pat Linhart and Morris Hughes and Kerwin Stanley of Madison High School's last championship team. Larry Graham is coach of the Star's cage squad.

Coach Jim O'Dell's recruits for the Star's wrestling team include 1983 state qualifying grapplers North's Colin Davis and South's Jon Frangoulis, just to name two.

Drops Double Header

Edwardsville sends GC Junior Legion reeling

By STEVE WHITWORTH of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The weather was hot Saturday, but the bats of the Granite City Junior American Legion team were ice-cold.

In fact, the performance of the Granite City club was flat in every category as they dropped a double header to Edwardsville, 10-1 and 13-3.

Granite City never held the lead in either game. They managed only three hits and one run in the opener and failed to score after the second inning of the nightcap.

Edwardsville got all the runs they would need to win the first game in the first inning of that contest. Center fielder Todd Spiller singled to lead off and then stole second. Shortstop Brian Paddock followed with a single, sending Spiller to third. Paddock stole second as Granite City's pitcher, Rodney Sampson retired the next two hitters.

First baseman P.J. Riley then played Delilah as he cut short Sampson's strongman act. He singled to give Edwardsville a two-run lead.

Granite City got their first and only run in the bottom half of the frame. Second baseman Brent Cook reached second on an error by Edwardsville's left fielder, Mark Blythe. He advanced to third on a passed ball and scored one out later on a single by left fielder Tom Adamitis.

The remainder of the first five innings settled into a pitching duel between Sampson and Edwardsville's Jeff Wade. Edwardsville tallied again in the third when Paddock led off with a triple. Once again, Sampson retired two men before giving up an RBI single to his nemesis, Riley.

Meanwhile, Wade allowed just two more hits. Cook singled to lead off the third, but was stranded at third base. Designated hitter Matt Roe singled in the fourth, but Granite City failed to score with the bases loaded.

Sampson finally ran out of gas in the top of the sixth. Blythe singled and took second on an error by Adamitis. Riley was intentionally walked, but right fielder Tim Klingsick blasted a triple to make the score 5-1. Klingsick scored on a wild pitch and the situation quickly got out of hand.

Before the inning was over, Allen Zentgraf had come in to relieve Sampson and Edwardsville had piled up six runs on the strength of five base hits. Granite City went hitless in the final two frames and Edwardsville added an insurance run in the seventh to make the final 10-1.

Wade finished the game with three walks and five strikeouts, giving up just the three hits and one run.

Edwardsville wasted no time in jumping on Granite City starter Jim Fletcher in the second game. With two out in the first inning, left fielder Todd Hansel singled. Blythe doubled him to third. Second baseman Rod Strohmeier singled them both home, stole second and took third on a single by right fielder Dan Martin. Strohmeier scored when Fletcher's pickoff throw got away from Adamitis at first to make the score 3-0.

But, Granite City managed more hits in the first inning of the second game than they had in the entire first contest. Cook singled to lead off and came all the way home on a double by shortstop Scott Grote. Left fielder John Conkovich singled to drive in Grote to make the score 3-2. Designated hitter Tom Mosby's single was the fourth safety of the inning, but Edwardsville's Steve Stuart prevented any further scoring.

In the bottom of the second, Granite City tied the score. Catcher Matt Roe led off with a single and stole second. He advanced to third on Grote's one-out single. Grote then stole second to set up an unusual play.

Conkovich bunted and Roe thundered home. Stuart fielded the bunt and threw Conkovich out at first. But, Grote rounded third and also tried to score on the play. First baseman David Gerber threw home to the catcher, Blythe and Grote was out for the double play.

Edwardsville went ahead to stay in the fourth when Martin led off with a double. He stole third and scored when Roe's throw got away from third baseman Don Martin.

Granite City did not score again in the game and managed just two more hits. Cook singled in the fourth and Conkovich singled in the fifth.

Edwardsville scored three more runs off Fletcher in the fifth. Bob Dietrich relieved for Granite City; he was tagged for a run in the sixth and five more in the seventh to make the final 13-3.

Stuart, a lefthander, walked three and struck out five while giving up eight hits. He also hit a batter with a pitch.

Edwardsville pounded 15 hits in the second game to go with their 12 safeties in the opener. Granite City totalled 11 hits for the two games.

Coach Kevin Sykes of Granite City said, "Our team is in very much of a slump. We've had trouble against left handers all year. But, we're just not hitting the ball well. Our hitting is atrocious right now."

The double loss dropped Granite City's record to 9-3 in the conference and 13-5 overall.

"They're not coming out to play these days," Sykes said of his squad. "They're just not playing with the enthusiasm they used to."

McDonald's takes Sunday pair from GC Chiefs

By BELINDA CONLEY of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — McDonald's combined good pitching and hitting to sweep a double header from the Granite City Chiefs in Inter-City League baseball Sunday at Wilson Park.

The Chiefs scored only two runs all day as McDonald's Tim Kirksey pitched a one hitter to lead his team to a 12-1 victory in the first game, and Keith Burton and Al Yount combined for a three hitter in the second game which McDonald's won 3-1.

McDonald's scored the first of their runs in the second. With two out and none on, Yount walked, stole second and scored on a double by John Linhart.

McDonald's didn't score again until the fifth, when Ken Wilson singled and scored on an error by Chief center fielder Mike McPherson.

In the sixth, John Vrenick led off with a walk. He stole second, and went to third on a bad throw by the catcher. Vrenick then scored on a double by Yount. Yount also stole second, and came in on a single by Gaylon Harris. Harris added to the stolen base total by stealing second and third. He then scored on an error by Chief catcher Dominic Griffin.

The Chiefs scored their first and only run in the sixth, when Griffin spoiled Kirksey's no-hitter with a single to right center. Jim Small was put in to run for Griffin. Small went to second on an infield out and took third on a wild pitch. Milt Roe sent Small home with a sacrifice.

McDonald's, who led 5-1, continued to run up the score in the seventh. Wilson, Dan Sclaus, Dan Patterson, Jeff Parker, Vrenick, Harris, and Keith Burton combined for the eight hits and seven runs that increased McDonald's lead to 11 runs.

McDonald's again held the Chiefs to one run in the second game, while scoring only three themselves. Ken Wilson led off the second game with a walk, stole second and scored on a balk by Chief pitcher McPherson.

McDonald's scored their two final runs in the third. Schaus walked with one out. Patterson followed with a home run to right field, giving his team a 3-0 advantage.

The Chiefs scored their run in the fifth when Dennis Gurkin Sr., the Chiefs manager, went to bat and was hit by a pitch. Gurkin advanced to second on a passed ball and went home on a double by Rich Takmajian.

The Chiefs play the Edwardsville Nationals next Sunday at Wilson Park, and McDonald's plays at Maryville. Both games begin at 1 p.m.

Nesbit, Noel fare well in VP meter runs

Two Granite Cityans finished well recently during two different Veiled Prophet Fair runs in St. Louis.

Sam Nesbit, recently the winner of the Nameoki-Crossroads Association's 10,000 meter run, finished 13th in the Veiled Prophet 10,000 meter run July 3 in St. Louis.

Nesbit, who finished the race in 31:48, described the run as a "tough course on very hot day."

Approximately 4,000 persons participated in that annual run.

The other Granite Cityan, Sheila Noel, participated in the 3,000 meter open girls' 13 and under division. She finished fourth with a time of 13:39, just 11 seconds behind the third place finisher. Overall, the young trackster finished 37th among 550 entries.

Miss Noel is competing in the track Summer Series each week at Belleville East High School.

Metro-East host volleyball camp

Coach Barb Dwyer of Metro-East Lutheran High (MELH) has announced that the high school will host a youth volleyball camp for girls entering grades 3 through 8 during the week of July 25-29 from 9 until 11:30 a.m.

The registation fee is $25 per camper and includes: fundmental individual instruction; team competition; guest instructors; camp t-shirt; and individual awards.

Interested campers should contact the school at: Metro-East Lutheran High, 1001 Center Grove Road, Edwardsville, 62025, or phone AC (618) 656-0043 between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Before Al Barnes became a member of this sports staff he was the sports information director at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. His concern for the university is often reflected in many of his "Sports Of All Sorts" columns. This is one such column.

By AL BARNES for the Press-Record

The recent happenings at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been so funny one would die laughing if they didn't make you cry: first because of their futility and evidence of the lack of a strong leadership at the top.

In fairness, it must be pointed out that the current top leaders, Earl Lazerson and Jim Buck, inherited a real mess, no doubt of that. Much of that mess, it is true, grew out of the fact that the early leaders were faced with a situation kind of like "it just grew like Topsy."

Admitting that, however, doesn't change, one iota, the many controversial command decisions ... at the top, early on and presently ... made which has cost the taxpapers of Illinois literally

Sports of all Sorts

On SIUE sports decisions and more millions of dollars since intercollegiate athletics were inaugurated at the young school in 1967.

Most currently, was the receipt of the 1983 SIUE varsity soccer schedule, which has Coach Bob Guelker's kickers playing nearly one-half of their games before the students for the fall term even are on campus and...

Two — For the 12th straight year, playing the annual Bronze Boot game again at St. Louis' Busch Memorial Stadium, again at a loss to the Cougars' treasury of approximately $10,000. Yup, 10-grand! It costs at least ten "Grover Cleveland" just to open the gates at Busch. More importantly, though, is that now it is costing the SIUE students, despite their paying athletic fees, at least $3 to get into their "home games." And, another $3 to park their cars.

Worst of all, in my mind, is that the athletic program leadership at the school is giving up a golden opportunity to bring the public to the school's beautiful 2,600-acre campus ... with all kinds of free parking.

Attendance at recent Bronze Boot games at Busch, at the most optimistic, have averaged less than 10-thou. Cougar Field, despite denials of those who wish to keep the Boot game in St. Louis, can handle 10,000 fans and even more ... standing and seated.

And, two final thoughts about SIUE soccer:

First — Somebody in command at the John S. Rendleman Building should order an inspection of the steel girders supporting the bleacher seating. The rusting very definitely is taking a toll.

Second — My congratulations to Bob Guelker for, at long last, the signing of at least two Blue Chip Illinois prep soccer players. It is hoped that they will be given a fair share of making the starting 11.

Now, an overall view of the SIUE athletic program, early mistakes and pluses, and where it is now:

First, it is hoped that President Lazerson and his command group has learned a lesson from the past, particularly in the field of hiring an athletic director. It's obvious that a man, or for that matter, a woman, with a background as an athletic director be hired and given a definite time (say five years) period to work out a program for Cougar sports.

Secondly, a command decision should be taken to prevent the school's sad history of costly mistakes in the school's capital plant developments, ergo, in prior administrations, the mishandling — and subsequent loss — of the original physical education building on and in the central campus, to the tune of a $8,500,000 state legislature appropriation toward the erecting a gym in the summer of 1969. Plus, by inept handling years ago, the loss of a $1½-million United States grant. And, if that wasn't bad enough, the loss from athletic department funds, of $350-thousand to pay the Alton firm of architects for detailed plans to build that gym.

Man, what a loss that was.

In the same general area, most distressing was the lack of leadership at the top to land for the SIUE campus a $15-million convention center made possible by our own Senator Sam. Incidentally I, for one, favor naming the new Multi-Purpose Building, the Senator Sam Gym.

Next, it is hoped that steps will be now taken to assure quality in building sports facilities on campus. There was a frightful record of financial losses in the building of the school's track and field facility and the tennis courts up on the central campus. The original track, when finished was a disgrace, and the tennis courts were just barely tar pits.

The best that can be ascertained about the amount of losses sustained in the track and tennis foul-ups was more than $500 thousand. And, the lack of courage on the part of top leaders at the time to force the contractors to make repairs before receiving their "performance bonds."

If ex-athletic director Eldon Bigham was relieved of his duties because of the SIUE tennis situation, what is Coach Kent DeMars' satus? Personally, I feel that DeMars has done an outstanding job, which has brought honor and distinction to the university and Illinois.

Incidentally, at this time, I wish to point out Eric Barnett's statement at a meeting of the School's Athletic Committee, that "one national athletic championship" brings more favorable "press" to SIUE than the hiring of one or more Nobel Prize winners. I regret that this is true.

Perhaps, the top command would have escaped some serious mistakes if they had just hired Barnett as athletic director. I doubt it, though.

An, nearly last, what is the overall situation in the field of women's athletics? Personally, I keep hearing bad rumors and receiving some very bad vibes. What's the story?

And, in the same area of women's athletics, since Bigham made the decision to "light" the ladies softball diamond, why wasn't the men's field lit at the same time?

Lighting the Cougar Field baseball diamond would be a terrific "plus" for all Southwestern Illinois baseball teams, since they could be utilized for not only varsity baseball games, but high school and amatuer, or even semi-pro clubs, all during th summer months. With some very outstanding public relations benefits.

And, lastly but not in the field of athletics, I'm most ashamed that our top leadership so bovinely caved in when hard decisions were called for in the area of the Mississippi River Festival.

It has been variously estimated that the school and the state, together, had invested more than $10-million in that very real and exciting program for the public's enjoyment and enlightment, only to drop it, almost casually, without even a whimper.

Sad, really sad!

Ways to cut tax liability

Although in the business of collecting taxes and administering tax law, the Internal Revenue Service wants you to know you have certain rights and available alternatives to legally minimize your tax liability.

The secret is planning, and not just at tax time, but all year long, according to a Springfield IRS district spokesman. Just as persons try to economize day by day by planning to make purchases during sales, or to go on vacations when bargain rates are in effect, there are ways to cut down on the amount of taxes owed.

Here are some of the times you can save money, the spokesman added. The instances are only to give an awareness that a tax break may exist.

You want to sell your house. If you are age 55 or over and meet certain requirements, you will be able to exclude all or part of the capital gains you plan to make on the sale. (Pub. 523, "Tax Information on Selling Your Home.")

Your income this year is far greater than it was in the past. If you have a marked increase in the money you must pay tax on, income averaging may save on your taxes.

By using this method, you will be dividing your income over the four years prior to the windfall year.

Income averaging can be used as often as it helps. If you get promoted each year, or your spouse returns to work, or you win the lottery, for example, try to income average. You can benefit from the time spent making this computation. (Pub. 506, "Income Averaging.")

You want to go to work, but there's no one to mind the children. If you pay to have your children or disabled dependent cared for so you can work, you might be entitled to a credit against your taxes.

A credit is a direct deduction from the amount of taxes you owe and can be real savings. To be eligible, you must meet certain requirements. (Pub. 503, "Child and Disabled Dependent Care.")

You plan to divorce your spouse, but haven't settled on any financial arrangements. Under certain circumstances, you can deduct periodic payments to a spouse as alimony, but you cannot deduct a lump-sum payment.

The alimony, if deducted by one spouse, is taxable to the spouse receiving it. (Pub. 504, Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals."

You are single, and a relative lived with you all year. If you are single and maintain a household for yourself and a family member or relative you may be able to file as Head of Household — a less expensive filing status than Single. (See the instructions that come with your tax package for details.)

You own some stock and are thinking about selling it. If you make a profit on the stock, you must report that as income and be taxed accordingly.

If you have a loss, you can use the loss to offset other income. If you've held the stock for a year or less, the rules are different from what they are when you hold the stock for longer periods.

Generaly, the rules that apply to stock will also apply to other property held for personal use. (Pub. 544, "Sales and Other Disposition of Assets.")

You've just heard about a marvelous tax shelter which promises to reduce your taxes a great deal. There are ligitimate tax shelters which will, in effect, provide tax deductions. Usually, they benefit high-income taxpayers, require large amounts of capital, and carry with them financial risk.

IRS has no particular publication on this subject, but warns that a tax shelter is not always a legal way to reduce taxes. Beware of a scheme that sounds too good to be true, the spokesman cautions.

None of these situations apply to you, but you are curious to know if there are some ways you can save on taxes. This list was only meant to alert you to possibilities and, of course, cannot cover individual situations.

What's more, times change, and in a year or so you may want to look into areas that don't interest you now.

Awareness that there are tax benefits in many forms is important even if you cannot take advantage of them now. (Pub. 910, "Taxpayer's Guide to IRS Information and Assistance.")

You realize now there were tax breaks to which you were entitled in past years, but you didn't know it then. You can file an amended return, 1040X, and change items on returns for any of the last three years — three years from the date you filed your original return or within two years from the time you paid your tax, whichever is later.

If your original return was filed late, you may not be able to get a refund, or the amount of the refund may be limited.

A return filed early is considered filed on the due date (usually, but not always, April 15).

To order any of these free publications, Quad-Citians may write the IRS Forms Distribution Center, 6000 Manchester Trafficway Terrace, Kansas City, Mo. 64130.

GC POLICE RECOVER STOLEN VEHICLE

Granite City police recovered a vehicle believed to have been stolen from Debbie's Lounge in Madison last week.

Richard Greene, 2256 Benton St., said a man in the lounge told him that he (not Greene) was leaving and planned to steal a car. When Greene left the lounge at 10 p.m., he found his car missing, he told Madison police. Because Greene still had the keys, police believed the car was hotwired.

The car was found when Granite City police investigated a hit-and-run accident in which it was involved.

A suspect was arrested on other charges and an investigation of the stolen car is continuing, police said.

Before the dinner, President Randy Odom had the honor of representing the Aerie by being called to the speakers platform on five seperate occasions to accept awards. The first time he received a first place bronze plaque for donations to the Jimmy Durante Crippled Childrens fund, the second time Bill Gillette, state chairman (Streator Aerie 645), gave him a large ceramic eagle which was the first place award for the combined donation of an Eagles Aerie and Auxiliary to the Jimmy Durante fund.

A standing ovation was given to Buehler as he made his way to the speakers platform. Upon receiving the plaque the local man thanked Crabill and those people present.

The following day Odom was again asked to come forward and was presented two ceramic eagles for first place in the state for donations to the Eagles Educational fund, by Paul Trinkle, Chairman (Champaign Aerie 3075).

'Home Gardener' offered on video tapes or cable

This fall, you can join more than 100 students who have found Belleville Area College's TV gardening course "fruitful," a BAC spokesman said.

When "The Home Gardener" was first offered in the spring of 1982, BAC horticulture instructor Charlie Giedeman was concerned about his ability to reach students who learned via TV rather than in-person in classrooms.

"I'm finding the people who take it upon themselves to view the tapes take on lot more responsibility for their education than the traditional student and they're getting more out of it," Giedeman said. "They're viewing the tapes three and four times."

The introductory horticulture course teaches basic gardening skills from soil preparation to landscape design, from vegetable cropping to hanging baskets. Students are introduced to expert horticulturists and entomologists and have an opportunity to see interesting and unusual botanical gardens and nurseries.

It will be offered on Continental and South-Western cable stations for the first time this fall. Persons without cable, should not be discouraged from taking the class, Giedeman said. Tapes will be available for viewing and reviewing at the college's Belleville campus and Granite City Center, and at the Granite City Public Library. Tapes can be made available at other locations throughout the college district if demand for them exists, he said.

Giedeman is looking forward to serving as mentor for the course again this fall. As mentor, Giedeman is available by phone or in person to answer TV-course students' questions, correct quizzes, and conduct mid-term and final examinations. He supervises gardening field days, which are scheduled at the Belleville campus as a complement to the videotaped lessons.

"The vast majority come into this course with an interest in plants," Giedeman said. "They want to get something practical out of it. Many see this as a way of supplementing the family income through vegetable gardening or landscape plantings to raise the value of their homes."

Because of this, Giedeman distributes literature written with the homeowner in mind, such as brochures on lawn and garden equipment. He also passes along seed samples. Students in this spring and summer's courses received packets of a new variety of sweet corn.

He makes space available in the college's greenhouses for TV course students to start plants and the college's rose garden and nursery serve as valuable testing ground.

"When a person comes in with a question, he can try it on our trees first, then go home and work on his own," Giedeman said.

The TV course appears to be for everyone, Giedeman said. "We've had the biggest variety," he began. "We've had them from high school seniors to a woman that's retired and thinking about a second career. We hope we can reach people with a handicap that would be prevented from really enjoying the on-campus course.

"For some women, their children are in school, they'd like to take a college course and this doesn't present a frightening situation. It also allows them to be home when the children come home."

About half of those registering are female and half male, Giedeman said. Many students are choosing to take the course as an elective. Others are discovering a new interest.

"One out of four come back and take another horticulture course," he said. "I know we have lit the flame on the candle."

The courses are perhaps some of the most rewarding Giedeman has taught. "I've been able to develop a rapport with people who have had a little gardening experience," he said. "They will call in and ask about their problems. I've developed more personal relationships than in other classes where students are more conscious of grades."

Field days, Saturdays when students come to campus, have proved interesting, he said.

"We had a couple of students who would come in and really get into the 'Farmer's Almanac' schedule of planting. You bet they made sure they did everything possible to be sure things worked out. And we've had good discussions on organic gardening versus use of chemicals."

TV courses students have to work a bit harder than their counterparts in on-campus courses, he said. "I find most people really have trouble digging out all the information in the TV tapes because they're so concentrated," he said.

Students will view 30 half-hour programs, which were written and presented by John Lenanton of Orange Coast College, Costa Mesa, Calif. The course will air at 10 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays with repeat showings at 8 p.m. the same days.

Students will earn three credit hours for the course. Tuition is $21 per credit hour or $63 for the course. There is a TV fee of $15 and textbooks are additional.

Giedeman rings lifetime of experience to his job.

"I got my first paycheck working a vegetable farm at age 6," he said. "I grew up in a small greenhouse and floral shop, and for a long time believed the last thing I want to do was have anything to do with plants."

After studying a pre-veterinarian program for four years in college, Giedeman found himself drawn back to horticulture. He holds a bachelor's degree in zoology and botany from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and a master's in plant ecology from SIU-Carbondale. He also has an associate's degree in horticulture from BAC.

He has been with the college since 1974. As coordinator of the horticulture program, a rose garden and nursery. He is spearheading a program to landscape the college's Belleville campus.

Before coming to BAC, he taught at North County Technical School in Florissant, Mo., and at St. Mary's High School in St. Louis.

"The Home Gardener" is just one of eight telecorses BAC is offering this fall. Others include "Making It Count," an introduction to data processing; "Earth, Sea and Sky," an introduction to earth science; "An Invitation to Fly: Basics for the Private Pilot," a course that serves as ground school and prepares students to take the Federal Aviation Administation written examination; "U.S. History to 1877;" "Understanding Human Behavior," and introduction to general psychology; "Growing Years," a child development course; and "American Playhouse," a series of televiewed dramas.

Registration is underway for the courses. The gardening, pilot training, child psychology and drama courses, all of which will be aired on cable, begin Aug. 20. Other courses begin in September.

For information on the telecourses, interested persons may call 1-235-2700, extension 200.

Seek to extend life of Ill. driver's licenses to 4 years

Secretary of State Jim Edgar said that a bill sent to the governor, extending the life of Illinois drivers licenses from three to four years, will make license renewal more efficient.

"Senate Bill 490 is one example of our efforts to reduce government involvement in the lives of Illinois motorists without impacting traffic safety," Edgar said.

"By the time the program is fully implemented in 1987, drivers will not have to renew their licenses as often. they will cost less, and service at our facilities should be more efficient."

Senate Bill 490, sponsored by Senators James Rupp (R-Decatur) and Clarence Darrow (D-Rock Island) was passed by a House vote of 116 to 0.

Under the legislation, the cost of a four-year license would be $10, compared to the current three-year license fee of $8. As a result, the annual cost of a license would be reduced from $2.67 to $2.50.

If the legislation becomes law, drivers under age 69 would be required to take the written test once every eight years and the vision test every four years.

Drivers 69 and older would be required to take the vision, written and driving examination every four years under the proposed law, rather than once every three years, as is now required.

Edgar said 32 other states have found that four-year licenses are more efficient to administer while meeting traffic safety concerns through regular testing requirements.

Madison picks new carrier for employee insurances

By DONNA KIMBRO of the Press-Record

Madison City Council members approved an insurance plan for city employees provided by Ohio State Life Insurance Co., after a final explanation of the benefits for both life and medical care was given by Don Reeves, chairman of the purchasing committee, at the last city council meeting.

Noting the plan is an improvement over the previous policy, Reeves said the main point of protection is that any employee now being treated for an illness will be entitled to all benefits and will not have to observe a waiting period before full coverage with the new company is in effect. Also, the clause for treatment at a hospital emergency room provides up to $300 for charges with no deductable to the policyholder.

Aldermen gave approval for the first premium amounting to $3,428 to be paid to prevent any disruption in insurance coverage, since the former policy will be void in August.

The secretary then read a thank you letter from the U.S.O. at Lambert Field for snack food itmes donated by the auxiliary, from the family of Beulah Eakers for floral offerings and a letter concerning Project Help.

Historian Shirley Schienschang asked members to label all snapshots given to her to be recorded in the auxiliary scrapbook.

The president discussed the Amvets Auxiliary Department Convention held at Mount Vernon and named the many awards presented to the auxiliary and individual members.

Auxiliary awards included, a plaque for first place for the largest increase membership for auxiliaries of 50 and under; first place award of merit for the most new members; first place for the Marjorie Winters scarpbook; first place for a 21.8 percentage gain in membership; first place for the Theresa Peterson Memorial publicity award.

Also a second for the Jackie Petras Americanism award; a third for Lois McCann Hospital Award, and a third for Bob and Barbara Showalter S.O.S. Award.

Individual recognition was given to Barbara Siebert for obtaining nine new members; first place to Ann Tucker for reporter's award; Betty Wilkins for member of the year; second place to Mrs. Tucker for the Marie Duller Individual Hospital award.

Mrs. Brockman announced she gave a patriotic plaque and American flags to two local finalists in the Americanism essay and coloring contest. She also noted that a new Sackettes group for this area if being organized and if any member has the necessary qualifications they may register at the annual family day festivities.

Closing prayer was by Chaplain Clements and the retiring of colors by Mrs. Warfield. The next meeting is set for Wednesday, July 13, it was noted.

Reforms voted for job upsurge, a utility board, waste hazards, drugs for elderly

By SAM W. WOLF
State Representative

In a review of the 1983 session, I would like to praise four Democratic reform packages that passed the General Assembly.

Major reforms were made in the areas of economic recovery, utilities, the elderly, and hazardous waste.

I helped the Democratic leadership in the House guide a program for economic recovery in Illinois through the legislature.

This program is really innovative. It goes against the idea that government knows what's best for business.

This program was planned — and will be executed — by business, labor and the financial community working together with state government. It uses private capital and a minimum of state credit to spur business activity in the state.

The big winners are the Illinois citizens, who will get more jobs and increased revenues, but will pay nothing.

The plan would set up the Illinois Development Finance Authority and the Insured Industrial Revenue Bond Program. These groups would provide private financial backing and lower interest rates for small- and medium-sized businesses, so that they could expand and employ more workers.

Another feature of the plan is the creation of the Illinois Venture Investment Fund to attract new businesses.

The new Land Bank Program would purchase land in blighted areas and make it available for industrial and commercial uses and for reseach and development.

This legislation should help the state's economy to its feet again.

I supported a compehensive series of utility reforms initiated by Illinois House Speaker Michael Madigan. Key to this plan is the formation of Illinois' first-ever Citizens' Utility Board (CUB).

The CUB will be just what it says — a utility group for the citizens.

The CUB will be composed of an elected board of directors and members from the general public. Its job is to represent consumer interests before the Illinois Commerce Commission, the group that acts on utility rate requests.

The package contains legislation that would prohibit utility companies from charging consumers for the cost of importing coal or for construction work in progress.

There would also be bans on power shut-offs to tenants whose landlords are negligent in paying their power bills, and on winter-time shut-offs.

Winter shut-offs are especially inhumane to senior citizens. It's often a life-or-death matter for them.

I continued to concentrate much of my time on senior citizen issues, supporting a pharmaceutical relief program.

Senior citizens who make less than $12,000 a year in Illinois receive a flat grant of $80 a year as part of their "circuit breaker" benefits.

Under the bill, they could use that grant to buy a pharmaceutical ID card.

On presentation of the identification card at a drugstore, seniors would pay only $2 of every prescription. The state would pay the rest.

We want to make sure that senior citizens who need pharmaceutical supplies get them. Right now, it is difficult for many senior citizens on fixed incomes to keep up with the skyrocketing costs of prescription drugs.

I also supported hazardous waste reforms. This legislation would increase waste disposal fees and would toughen fines against violators of hazardous waste laws.

It's time to get tough on the people who ignore hazardous waste laws. We've seen what the mishandling of toxic chemicals did to our neighbors in Missouri.

Under this new package, a person who knowingly breaks the law to dump highly dangerous wastes would get up to a $500,000 fine.

The legislation would also set up a special unit to enforce hazardous waste laws. That power is spread now through several governmental agencies.

It would further establish a special division of the Department of Energy and Natural Resources to research hazardous waste problems.

I helped to mediate the state unemployment insurance fund crisis.

The fund was in pretty bad shape. It owed the federal government more than $2 billion.

I am proud to say that, by working with business and labor representatives, we were able to work out a compromise to save the fund.

Shooting victim may return home today

Terry Grafton of Madison was expected to be released today from St. Louis University Hospitals, where he has been a patient since being shot by an East St. Louis man during the final fireworks display at the St. Louis VP Fair on the riverfront last Monday night.

It was first thought Grafton, 32, would come home during the weekend, but a temperature rise prompted a decision by doctors to keep him a little longer for observation, according to his sister, Mrs. Barbara Armour of Madison.

Grafton was shot in the groin by a man who had argued with others in the crowd, then allegedly was handed a weapon by a woman companion and fired four times into a group of spectators.

After seeing a man coming through the crowd shoving people aside, Grafton told family members that he pushed some of those standing nearby out of the way when he saw the man start to fire the weapon.

The gun misfired three times before the shot struck him, Grafton told his family. He did not attempt to take the weapon from the East St. Louis man, as initially was reported, he stated.

The Madison man was at the Fourth of July VP Festival with his wife, Cheryl, and other relatives. None was involved in the initial quarrel with the gunman.

Mrs. Grafton commended the U.S. Coast Guard for its prompt assistance in the emergency. She reported the Coast Guardsmen on duty at the riverfront carried her wounded husband from the scene of the shooting, near the foot of the Gateway Arch, and transported him by boat to an ambulance waiting a short distance downstream.

"There was no way an ambulance could have gotten through the dense crowd to Terry," Mrs. Armour explained.

Due to the position of the bullet lodged in Grafton's groin, physicians have decided not to remove it at the present time, the victim's sister said. The bullet is near a nerve and "He will probably have to have it taken out at a later time," she commented.

Rezoning requests to be heard this week

Requests for rezoning for a church and a business are among the items to be considered by the Granite City Plan Commission and the city's Zoning Board of Appeals during separate meetings this week. The Board of Appeals will meet at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday at the city hall, 2000 Edison Ave., and the Plan Commission will meet at 1:15 p.m. Thursday, also at the city hall.

On Wednesday's agenda are six requests for variances in set-back requirements. Patricia Huniak, 4136 Rode, wishes to construct an attached garage up to the side property line, Gerold Shonk, 3012 Dale Ave., seeks permission to construct an attached carport within two feet of his side property line and Raymond Schubert, 1836 Spring Ave., wishes to construct an attached garage less than two feet from the side property line.

John Hamm, 2444 Kilarney Drive, would like to build an unattached garage two feet from the side lot line, Harial Baker, 2823 Myrtle Ave., also wishes to construct a free-standing garage two feet from the side lot line and Billie Vance, 2246 Benton Ave., is seeking a variance to build an attached patio and overhang 2½ feet from the side property line.

Two requests are on the agenda of the Plan Commission for Thursday. St. Gregory's Apostolic Church wants 5.1 acres of ground west of the Colonial Drive extension rezoned from the present R-1 (single family residential) zoning to C-3 (community service district) and Albert Kibort, 2904-06 E. 23rd St., seeks to have the present R-2 (single family residential) zoning changed to C-4 (central business commercial) at that address.

Both the Plan Commission and the Board of Appeals make recommendations to the Granite City Council. The council ultimately decides whether the requests are granted or denied.

Three hurt in crash allege drivers DUI

Three persons were injured in an accident at 1:30 a.m. Sunday in which the drivers of two cars were charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Believed seriously hurt is Anthony D. Weible, 24, of 2432 Benton St., who was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was unable to make a statement about the accident to police.

Jed M. Perkins, 22, of 4505 Maryville Road, also injured and taken by city ambulance to SEMC, was driving north on Edison Avenue when his pickup allegedly struck Weible's auto at Twenty-Fifth Street.

Weible's car then left the roadway and collided with a station wagon belonging to Leonard Revelle, 2110a State St., which was parked in a driveway at 2505 Edison Ave.

After colliding with Weible's auto, Perkins' truck also continued on and allegedly hit the rear of a parked auto owned by Tim Schwendemann, 2505 Edison Ave.

A passenger in the Perkins' pickup, Ronald K. Watson, 23, of 2734 Center St., also sustained injuries and was taken by ambulance to the medical center.

While being treated at SEMC, Perkins agreed to take a blood alcohol test and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and a stop sign violation.

A blood alcohol test was requested for Weible, who also was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

SILVER CAR STOLEN

The black vinyl over silver 1975 Chevrolet Monza two-door auto of Deborah Zedolek, 2401a Edwards St., was stolen Friday from 23rd Street and Grand Avenue.

Nitric acid leak in Venice yards

No injuries were reported in connection with the leaking of nitric acid from the expansion valve of a tank car in the Terminal Railroad yards in Venice at 5:05 a.m. Saturday.

Venice firefighters, using protective breathing apparatus and fog hand lines, neutralized the acid vapor by spraying water on the escaping cloud and confining the vapor to the immediate area.

Venice firemen were assisted by units from the Madison and Long Lake fire departments, which responded to the emergency by providing additional water tanker equipment.

Two Monsanto Chemical Co. employees repaired the leaking valve, located on top of the railroad tank car, according to Gary Wallace of the Venice Fire Department.

Firefighters remained at the scene for three hours.

Professor Murphy memorial service

A memorial service for Garry N. Murphy, associate professor of English language and literature at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Religious Center at SIUE. Professor Murphy died after an extended illness on June 15.

He studied at the University of Cincinnati, receiving his baccalaureate degree in 1951 and the Master of Arts in 1952. He completed his doctoral work at the University of Washigton in 1968.

A member of the SIUE faculty since 1960, Professor Murphy specialized in Shakespearean studies. He was well known as the author of the newspsper column, "About Language," which was distributed by University News Services to the major mass media in the University's service region. It also was printed in the monthly bulletin of the Illinois Press Association for the past three years.

He was the son of Chester and Bernadette Winters Murphy, who presently reside in Cincinnati. Other survivors include three sons, Paul, of St. Louis; Christopher, a student at the University of Illinois, and Geoffrey, who is serving with the U.S. Navy in Oakland, Calif.

A Garry N. Murphy Memorial Award fund has been established by the SIUE department of English language and literature, with a presentation to be made annually to an outstanding SIUE student. Contributions may be made to the Garry N. Murphy Memorial Award and sent to the department of English language and literature, Box 43, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026.

Venice service station robbed

The owner of the Venice Gas and Oil Service Station, 1101 Fourth St., Venice, was robbed of an undetermined amount of money last week by two men.

The two men forced Mildred Jennings to the floor and took two large rolls of money from her pocket, she told police.

An employee, Rick Jones, told police that the men twice entered the station and started to use the pay telephone.

Reports said that as the owner started to enter a caged area in the service station, the men grabbed her from behind, one of them putting a knife in her back, and forced her to the floor.

Jones said he heard her scream for help, entered the station and pulled one of the men off of the woman. One of the robbers pushed Jones into some tires and the two fled toward Broadway.

Jones said he had seen four men in the vicinity of Leon's Garage and saw them walk toward Venice Homes. Two of the men then came back to use the telephone, telling Jones their car had broken down.

No arrests had been made and police were continuing the investigation.

One man was described as being black, with a dark complexion, thin mustache with several hairs on his chin, large bicepts, a strong body build like a weight lifter, between 5-7 and 5-8 tall, weighing 200 pounds and having a tatoo saying "Lee Gee" on his left arm in the bicept area.

The other man, also a black, was described as having a dark complexion, clean shaven, same type of body build as the other man, 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighing 170 to 185 pounds.
